Mr. Chornenky previously held senior roles at the White House, UnitedHealth Group, University of California, and Morgan Stanley. As the Founding Director of VALID AI, he convenes 50 major health systems to advance AI adoption in healthcare. A sought-after speaker in national security and healthcare, his insights on AI feature in outlets such as Forbes, Bloomberg, and Politico.

As a Senior Advisor and Presidential Innovation Fellow at the White House, Dennis led initiatives on AI policy and national security across two administrations and helped produce the Executive Order on the Use of Trustworthy AI. As Senior Vice President and Chief AI Officer at UnitedHealth Group, he developed an AI governance structure and managed a portfolio of AI applications for clinical and business environments. Dennis has also served as an investment banker at Morgan Stanley and Lazard and as an executive advisor to technology companies, healthcare organizations, universities, and federal
