Clarence Page, the 1989 Pulitzer Prize winner for Commentary, has been a columnist and a member of the newspaper's editorial board since July 1984. His column is syndicated nationally by Tribune Media Services. He also participated in a Chicago Tribune vote fraud investigation which won the 1972 Pulitzer Prize for public service. He shared a 1980 Illinois UPI award for an investigative series titled "The Black Tax" and a 1976 Edward Scott Beck Award for overseas reporting in Southern Africa. In 1992, he was inducted into the Chicago Journalism Hall of Fame and later received a lifetime achievement award from the National Association of Black Journalists. His 1996 book, Showing My Color: Impolite Essays on Race and Identity, was published by HarperCollins. From 1980 to 1984 Page also worked at WBBM-TV in Chicago as a news reporter, a talk show host and director of community affairs. He received his Bachelor of Science in journalism degree from Ohio University in 1969. Born in Dayton, Ohio, began his journalism career as a freelance writer and photographer for the Middletown Journal and Cincinnati Enquirer at the age of 17. He and his wife Lisa have one son and reside in the Washington DC area.

Technical OfficerLa Jolla Institute for Allergy & ImmunologyEverglades Dining RoomFriday, February 19, 2016*

The study of immunology has emerged as the front runner of exciting medical research, with more and more studies suggesting it holds the key to solving most diseases that impact human health, even those we haven't historically associated with immune issues. This includes diseases such as: Cancer, diabetes, heart disease, asthma/allergies, rheumatoid arthritis, sickle cell anemia, emerging viral diseases and Alzheimer's disease.

In his presentation, Dr. Wilson will describe the goals of immune system research and how it is bringing forth interventions in health and medicine that will help people live better lives. Dr. Wilson will share concrete examples of how the aim of "Life Without Disease" is being tackled and how this area of research is even altering the way we look at the possibilities for our future - each of us living long lives without symptoms associated with diseases such as autoimmune disorders, infection, heart disease, and cancer.

Dr. Stephen Wilson is also the co-Principal Investigator and Project Director of the NIH's Immune Epitope Database and Analysis Resource, and Executive Director of the Institute's High Throughput Genomics Center. Before joining LJL in 1997, Dr. Wilson trained in basic medical research. He was a research fellow of both the National Institutes of Health and the National Multiple Sclerosis Society where he studied the immunologic basis of autoimmune disease. He holds a B.S.A. in Microbiology and a Ph.D. in Immunology from the University of Arizona's School of Medicine.

REFUND & GUEST TICKET POLICIES

If members are unable to attend a luncheon, they may notify the office by e-mail, mail or phone by 5:00 p.m. the prior Friday in order to receive a $20 refund per lunch. Due to our guarantee to the hotel, we are unable to issue a credit after the deadline. However, we still appreciate knowing if you are not going to use your ticket for purposes of honoring guest ticket requests. Credits will be issued to members at the end of the season.

Guest tickets are processed in the order received and will be sold on an as available basis. The availability of guest tickets is contingent upon members notifying the Forum Club office of their inability to attend a luncheon. If space becomes available, guest tickets will be released. As always, guest tickets are non-refundable and non-returnable.

If you have any questions regarding any of the Club's ticketing policies, call the Forum Club office at 239.436.3574.
